Condor Gold continues conducting groundwater level and surface waterflow monitoring, as well as gathering weather data from its digital weather station and three rain gauges (La India, Agua Fría and La Mestiza locations).

The environmental baseline studies for the Tatiana and America open pits projects were completed based on the Terms of Reference of the EIA application process and they were approved to go to Public Consultation, which was completed the 28th February.

Surface waterflow

Monitoring of weirs continues. Constant water flow is only present in San Lucas V-notch weir (LIWR001), which showed a decrease from 15.2 cm in the last quarter to 15 cm in March; since dry season lasts from November to April (Photos 3.2.1.a-e).

Seven sites showed an increase in groundwater level between 0.01m and 0.19m. Changes in groundwater level are common in hand-dug wells since they are used during dry season. Access to hand-dug well LIWL063 has been limited since the landowner has not been in the area during the monitoring period.

In February, 16 sites showed a decrease in groundwater level between 3.47m and 0.01 m. LIWL040 and LIWL057, both hand-dug wells showed the highest variations during the month. Six sites showed an increase in groundwater level between 0.02m and 1.04m.

In March, 20 sites showed a decrease in groundwater level between 3.72m and 0.02 m. LIDC323 and LIWL056, showed the highest variations during the month. LIDC317 and LIGT257 showed an increase in groundwater level between 0.02m and 1.96m, respectively.

LIDC291 showed no changes in groundwater level, LIGT250 continue to be dry.
